MIAMI, Fla., April 6.—The toll of yesterday's tornado which struck north of Miami reached four today when Mrs. J. T. Simpson died of her injuries. Twenty-nine homes were destroyed, according to exploring parties. Between 300 and 400 people are homeless.

The known dead are: F. E. Sullivan, 35, formerly a city fireman.

Mrs. B. E. Schultz, 70, mother of the proprietress of the White Belt dairy boarding house.

James Simpson, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Simpson of Little River.

Storm Clouds Clash The twister, formed apparently when two heavy storm clouds crashed head-on over the Everglades, northwest of Hialeah, switched its tail over six townships north of here.

Then it traveled north and east at a speed of about twenty miles an hour in a hop, skip and jump movement. It passed over Hialeah, doing little damage to the million dollar racing plant there, Little River, Lemon City, Biscayne Heights, Liberty and Buena Vista, reaping heavy damage in the first three, but scarcely touching the last three.

Nash Motors Climb High On Exchange

NEW YORK, April 6.—Nash motors' common stock jumped 20 points to 340, in the New York stock market today and established itself more firmly among the high priced aristocrats of the speculative stock list.

Added to a 25 point jump of last week, and a steady gain from its low price of 193 1-2 of the year in January, this stock has advanced 146 1-2 points since the turn of the year. Last year it sold at 96 1-2 and in 1923 at 76 1-2.

The strong market position of Nash motors is due to its unusual manufacturing and earning record and to the expectation of a split-up in the shares of the common stock. The dividend rate is 7 per cent with occasional extra dividends.

OVERTHROW OF HERRIOTT IS FORECAST

Election Of Millerand To Senate Declared End Of Premier's Rule

By FRANK E. MASON For International News Service.

PARIS, April 6.—Overthrow of the Herriot government is only a matter of days, according to today's newspaper interpretation of Alexandre Millerand's sweeping victory yesterday. The former president of the republic was elected to the Senate from the Seine district on a two-thirds majority.

The cabinet listened today for three hours to the reading by Anatole De Monsie, new minister of finance, of his proposed financial plan. This includes "voluntary contributions" asking each French citizen to give up 10 per cent of his actual fortune, for which the government will pay 4 per cent interest.

The cabinet did not reach a decision on the De Monsie plan. It adjourned to meet again this afternoon. In the meeting De Monsie meets with directors of the Bank of France to discuss the issuance of four billion francs in new banknotes.

"Millerand's election to the Senate was the political death of Premier Herriot," said Petit Journal. "The beginning of a movement of revolt which threatens eventually to sweep away the Herriot administration." "Truth is rising," said La Venire. "Herriot is punished by his mistakes," said the communist newspaper, Humanite.

Government newspapers attempted to explain away Millerand's victory.

Denies Defeat "Millerand's victory does not mean a defeat for Herriot," said Quotidien. "Millerand and his

GIANT SHIPS IMPRESSIVE SPECTACLE

San Francisco Is Riot Of Color As Fleet Passes By Golden Gate

By GIL A. COWAN For Southern News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—A city delirious with joy, running riot in color, aglow with the light that comes only with great gobs of gold—that's San Francisco today. In seventeen years it was not had such a visitation of Atlantic and Pacific squadrons. In five years it has not seen so many sailors. In seven years it has not had so many warcraft anchored in its harbor.

And therein lies a story worth telling and retelling. The visit of the fleet in Pacific ports has been momentous enough, but only in San Francisco bay—and this may be said of the wide world—does the sight impress one when Uncle Sam masses his sea-fighting forces into one mammoth review.

It was an event worth traveling many miles to see and Sunday saw all Northern California mingling en masse along the San Francisco water front and points of vantage on the Maria county shore. Of course, the Golden Gate was the focus of first observation.

Impressive Sight So it was the writer motored out to Fort Baker near Sausalito in Maria county and witnessed the spectacle seen once in a generation, perhaps. Each super-dreadnaught, each destroyer, each battle cruiser, each submarine and every other ship was plainly visible to the naked eye as it passed between Fort Point and Fort Baker, adjoining Fort Baker.

Drawing up in squadrons of sixes a never-ending parade of the navy's finest passed in review, the high point of excitement coming to crowd as the U. S. S. Nebraska, flagship of the fleet, and the U. S. S. California, and other gigantic warriors of the sea swept by. Likely a half million dollars' worth of floating fortresses with upwards to 50,000 men in their country's service participating in the event.

Planes Overhead Not alone did the navy share the glory of the day, for the army airplanes soared overhead and at every one of the forts protecting San Francisco bay the soldiery was on duty aiding the people to see the spectacle.

GOVERNOR GIVES WARNING ON CASH

Cut Special Appropriations From 'Christmas Tree,' Says Richardson

SACRAMENTO, April 6.—Today was "blue Monday" for legislators with special appropriation bills. Returning from week-end junketing trips spent in Reno and Woodlands, the lawmakers were confronted with a warning from Governor Richardson that he proposes to strip the legislative Christmas tree of its usual quota of special appropriations.

The hearings on special appropriation acts are scheduled to start before the Senate revenue and taxation committee tonight and the governor's statement that he proposes to keep intact the state's surplus formed an ominous prelude to this usually gala event.

Sponsors of several special appropriations, notably the $150,000 allotment for a California building at the Nevada highway exposition and a group of bills for fire trails in the vicinity of Los Angeles and in the San Francisco bay district, refused to be downcast, however, declaring that their measure were assured of favorable action regardless of the governor's statement.

Hope of an amicable agreement tonight in the Senate revenue and taxation committee on the state highway budgeting issue was heightened today by statements from the chairman of the committee that some kind of a compromise must be effected which will permit road work to continue during the ensuing biennium.

REBELS DEFEATED

CAPETOWN, S. A., April 6.—The Union of South Africa had scored a bloodless victory over the Rehoboth rebels today. The rebels surrendered unconditionally when airplanes sent against them flew over their camp. Not a shot was fired.

Publicity on Tax Returns Awaits Rule

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Federal income tax collectors have been instructed not to make public income tax returns until given authority by Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair, the treasury announced today. Returns will not be available to the public until after July 1, by which time it is expected the United States supreme court will have decided the constitutionality of newspaper publication of the tax lists.

DR. COOK GETS NUMBER AT PRISON

Noted Arctic Traveler Enters Leavenworth To Serve Long Sentence

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., April 6.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook became No. 23,118 at the federal penitentiary at 11:08 o'clock today. The famous explorer arrived at the office of Warden W. A. Biddle at 11:05 o'clock. He shook hands with the warden and then went into his office where he talked with him. Three minutes later he was turned over to the receiving officer and "dressed in."

After his few minutes' brief conversation—in which it was announced by Warden Biddle that Cook would be employed as a doctor in the hospital—the detention officer took the prisoner to a bathroom where he was stripped, given a bath and clothed in the blue denim prison garb.

Within a few minutes, Dr. Cook was out in the prison yard strolling arm-in-arm with Seymour E. J. Cox, his partner in the Texas oil frauds. At noon the former Arctic traveler was marched with other prisoners to the mess hall. There, under the eyes of guards, Cook partook of his first prison meal, stew, slaw, potatoes and bread and coffee.

During course of construction, Johannsen announced today that it will not be necessary to divert traffic. Half the width of each stretch of road will be completed to permit traffic to travel over it while the other half is under construction. A slowing down of travel will be the only inconvenience, he said.

Paving of San Fernando road is one of the largest engineering projects in Glendale's 1925 program. Widening of the road will not affect the paving to be laid this summer, as shoulders only will be necessary while the street is finally made an 86-foot boulevard.

SAN FERNANDO ROAD TO BE WIDENED

Paving Of Thoroughfare For Entire Length In City Is Planned Soon

Resolution of intention for the paving of the entire portion of San Fernando road lying within the Glendale city limits, a length of about four and a half miles, will be submitted to the City Council for action within the next week, it was announced today by City Engineer J. F. Johannsen.

Engineers in his department this week are completing specifications which include the laying of a cement concrete base with cushion top, varying in width from 40 feet to 66 feet from curb to curb. Meanwhile the city has received a report on the titles of all property owners adjoining San Fernando road and in the entire road assessment district upon act for the appointment of an appraisal board to obtain a right of way for the widening of the road.

Cost Not Fixed When completed the road will be 86 feet wide from property line to property line and 66 feet wide from curb to curb its entire length. At the present time the city is completing widening of the road to 66 feet from Grand View to the Burbank city line.

Specifications for paving of the road, now being completed, include the laying of sewer laterals, and all other similar improvements. No estimate of the total cost of the work has been obtained as yet, but engineers expect to have an approximate cost to submit to the council when it acts upon the resolution of intention and calls for bids.

The cement concrete base with cushion top is considered one of the best types of roadbeds in existence. It will have a tensile strength sufficient to handle the heavy traffic now passing over the road and to bear a maximum increase in traffic.

SOUTH AND IS VISITED BY BIG RAIN

Traffic Held Up When Road Becomes Filled With Water From Hills

Glendale was drenched Saturday night by heavy rains that added 1.08 inches to the seasonal record, which now stands at 9.44 inches. One year ago today the seasonal record was 7.43 inches. Mrs. H. E. Bartlett of 333 West Broadway, observer, who furnishes The Glendale Evening News with local rain figures, calls attention to the fact that this year is the third low year. Two years ago today the seasonal record read 10.86 inches. It will be noted that last year was lower, while this year more rain has been received.

Rain fell heavily in Glendale Saturday night, gutters running high with water. Heavy streams came dashing from hills and canyons and on East Broadway such a volume of water filled Chevy Chase drive that traffic was delayed, motorists hesitating before attempting to cross the rushing waters.

Debris Removed Additional crews have been put to work by the Glendale street department to clean up the debris and mud carried down from the hills and canyons over portions of the city's streets during Saturday night's heavy downpour. City En-

POISON FOUND IN MURDER MYSTERY

Autopsy Reveals Traces Of Mercury In Bodies Of Chicago Victims

CHICAGO, April 6.—Traces of mercury poison found in the bodies of Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock and Dr. Oscar Olson, and the report of the physician who attended Mrs. McClintock during her last illness that he had at no time prescribed any medicine for her calling for mercury, today added new interest to the "typhoid murder" case in which William D. Shepherd is indicted for the murder of his millionaire foster son, William Nelson McClintock.

Detectors immediately started a search of drug stores on the south side near the old McClintock home, for prescriptions and possible mercury sales.

At the same time William Scott Stewart and S. W. O'Brien, counsel for Shepherd, planned an appeal to the supreme court for release of their client on bail, thrice denied in the criminal courts.

Dr. William D. McNelly, coroner's chemist, asserted that he has not as yet completed his examination of the bodies, exhumed last week, and that he had not made his official report on his findings. It was admitted, however, that traces of mercurial poison had been found. The coroner's inquest into the death of young McClintock is to be resumed Wednesday.

Two Nabbed In L. A. As Robbery Suspects

LOS ANGELES, April 6.—J. J. Duran and Roger M. Sullivan, oil workers, believed to be the missing members of a robber gang suspected of attempting to rob the El Segundo bank of a $100,000 Standard Oil Co. payroll on Friday, which resulted in the killing of Charles "Blackie" Davis, also known as Castle, and the capture of Norman Mason, were arrested today, according to the police.

While the officer questioned Duran and Sullivan, who are held on charges of suspicion of robbery, an inquest was held over the body of Davis, who, according to his wife, Mrs. Daisy Davis, is also known as Barney Kassel, which is sometimes spelled "Castle." Davis' parents are said to reside in St. Louis, Mo.

Life In Home For Insane Is Not Drab One

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—The prospect faced by Dorothy Ellingson, just past her seventeenth birthday, if she is declared insane and sentenced to a state institution, is not an entirely drab one. Dance and other amusements, light house work, permission to use cosmetics and wear any suitable clothing she desires are among the privileges of inmates of the Agnew state home. She may receive friends or relatives authorized by the management of the institution and all other privileges will be extended in her behalf. Patients are not required to work, but are urged when able to do so as a part of the methods of curing their mental ailments. The institution's routine will require her to arise at 6 o'clock.

Special Counsel In Effort To Reopen Fight on Fall, Sinclair, Doheny

WASHINGTON, April 6.—An appeal from the decision of Justice McCoy in district supreme court in quashing criminal indictments against principals in the naval oil reserve scandal was filed here this afternoon. The special oil counsel, Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, noted the appeal before McCoy, who nullified the true bills on technical grounds.

Indictments were against ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, Harry F. Sinclair, Edward L. Doheny and Edward L. Doheny, Jr., and grew out of the leasing of the Teapot Dome and Elks Hills reserves.

The court held the indictments were vitiated because Oliver E. Pagan, special assistant attorney-general, was in the grand jury room during the taking of testimony.

MATRICIDE IS PLEASED AT TESTIMONY

Dorothy Ellingson Enjoys Declarations By State That She Is Sane

By ELLIS H. MARTIN For International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—Displaying more interest and "pep" than at any time since she went on trial for the murder of her mother, Dorothy Ellingson, 17-year-old matricide, today heard with evident enjoyment the declaration that she is sane.

With the conclusion of a grilling cross-examination of Dr. Jau Don Ball to which Dorothy listened with great amusement, the defense rested. In an opening statement, Assistant District Attorney Harmon Skellin declared the state would prove:

First—That Dorothy Ellingson is NOT a psychopathic liar.

Second—That there is nothing abnormal about the defense exhibits on which they based their claims of insanity.

Third—That the defendant is sane both by observation of police witnesses with whom she came in contact since her arrest and in the opinion of alienists employed by the state.

Although denied by her attorneys, reports persisted that Dorothy planned to demand she be permitted to take the stand. The jury in the murder

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, April 6.—"Going up" made Frank Craven a lot of money as a theatrical production and going up is going to make women's tailors a lot of money this spring.

Aviation has grown in popularity with women, especially those who spent the winter in Florida where the commercial airplanes did a rushing business. In consequence many women are completing their wardrobes with aviation costumes. These are primarily utilitarian but many are extremely attractive as well. One just designed consists of whipcord breeches made on lines of riding trousers, laced tightly at the knee, a low round collar, heavy wide silk blouse with a bow tie and a sleeveless short belted Norfolk jacket.

With the above are worn high laced boots coming almost to the knee and a light leather aviation helmet fastening under the chin. Of course when strapped into the plane, the wearer dons a heavy leather coat tightly buttoned over the sleeveless jacket.

New Lingerie
There may be nothing new under the sun but there are some new things being worn under the dress at present. The latest example of attractive lingerie consists of a curtailed combination forming a chemise, drawers and petticoat. It is made of crepe of different shades connected by embroidery. Others of similar design are made of different shades of washable satin and triple voile, trimmed with tulle lace.

The vogue for dresses with long tight sleeves coming well down to the hand has been responsible for the designing of a new daytime glove. This is of glass kid, has a rather long wrist and is fastened with three buttons. It is without a cuff, and is ornamented with self-colored stitching on the back.

The embroideries done in leather threads are scoring a distinct hit as decorations for the smaller spring hats. The brighter colors are used and attractive embossed effects are secured. Some of the new hat pins have heads surrounded by a small leather fringe.

SULPHUR PLANT
MADE TO YIELDHuge Deposit Is Placed
On Profitable Basis
By Drilling

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

LAKE CHARLES, La., April 6.—One of the greatest romances of big business has been brought to a close by virtual completion of the dismal life of the $20,000,000 Union Sulphur Co. plant near here. The tremendous deposit of sulphur which formed one of the largest assets of Calcasieu parish, and which seemed at one time almost inexhaustible, has been worked out, according to H. W. Bell, state geologist, who has made a survey of the property.

The deposit is estimated originally to have contained 10,349,436 tons of the element. It was owned by a party of New Orleans capitalists, but they found themselves unable to work it at a profit since the sulphur was between 1,000 and 2,000 feet below the surface. Attempts to remove it through shafts proved too expensive, and the owners employed a German chemist named Herman Frasch to aid them in working out a plan for mining it.

Drilling Succeeded
Frasch, who had occupied a minor position with the Standard Oil Co., evolved a plan for drilling holes to the sulphur through the overlying earth, pumping live steam to the bottom, melting the sulphur and pumping the element to the surface. The New Orleans men could not see the expense involved in such a process and could not be induced to install it.

Frasch, however, believed thoroughly in his own plan and refused to give it up. After many efforts he succeeded in interesting some of the men he had met

Blvd.AMERICAN POLICY
ABROAD CHANGEDDevelopments In France,
Italy Recently Expected
To Shape Course

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—President Coolidge's foreign policy in the immediate future will be affected by the developments just reported from France and Italy.

Not only is the American effort to get the powers together on another conference for limitation of armament delayed, but the negotiations for an adjustment of the French war debt owed to the United States have been temporarily blocked.

The American debt commission will find it unwise now to interject requests for payment from France, as has been hinted in the last few days, and time will be given to determine whether the new finance minister will adopt the policy of his predecessor or treat the American debt question with some seriousness, as, for instance, in the sending of a special mission to America.

President's Aim
President Coolidge has been trying to find out through American ambassadors abroad whether the larger powers would agree to the discussion of a limitation of armament. The declaration of Premier Mussolini that the cut in the Italian army should be delayed until it can be determined what France and other nations will do is taken to mean here that the crux of the whole problem is in France and that American influence will have to be constantly exerted to secure French acceptance of the conference idea.

The French in the midst of their financial crisis are not worrying so much about the war debt, but they realize that in the last week a powerful note was sounded by the president in his reopening of the subject of whether American capital shall be loaned abroad if it is to be used for military purposes. This policy is not new, but it has a special significance at this time, for, while loans are made for a civilian purpose, they at the same time permit other funds to be used for military purposes.

MURDER JURY CHOSEN

YREKA, Cal., April 6.—Two women and ten men will decide the fate of James N. Howard, octogenarian, charged with the murder of John Noland in a lonely cabin on the shore of Tule lake early last November.

Seven witnesses testified before the jury that the killing resulted during a drunken fight in which Howard, Noland and a third man, Con Sullivan, were engaged.

KILTS FOR HEALTH

YORK, England, April 6.—Men should wear kilts and low-necked blouses if they would enjoy good health, according to Dr. Percy Hall, a prominent Hull physician. Addressing the York

Rotary club, he declared the women, by their adoption of the abbreviated skirts, silk stockings and low-necked blouses, allowed the maximum of light and fresh air to reach their bodies, and benefited immensely thereby.

ART SOCIETY IMPROVISES PROGRAM

Regular Meet At Van Grove
Salon Features Talk
By John Cotton

The regular meeting of the Glendale Art association, held yesterday afternoon at the Van Grove studio, 337 North Brand boulevard, was greatly enjoyed by those present, although a change in program was necessary, owing to the inclemency of the weather, and attendance was materially reduced. The lecture by Miss Peggy O'Neill was postponed and an impromptu program by club members proved an interesting substitute.

Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh, president, opened the meeting with a short talk in regard to the coming meeting of the Elstiddoff, April 26 to May 2, calling attention to the application blanks contained in the books recently issued, and requesting the local artists to keep their creative work in harmony with the subject, "Spirit of the West," as this is the keynote of the contest in the Elstiddoff. Announcement was made that the paintings entered would be exhibited in the Elstiddoff building, corner of Broadway and Maryland. Season tickets, good for all exhibits of art, music, drama and dancing, will be sold for $1.

Mrs. Ballagh also voiced her gratification over the success of the Allied Arts meeting and announced that the last Sunday night of each month, would be given over to a similar meeting of creative artists, this being one of the first steps in the movement toward a center for allied arts in the community.

Cotton Speaks
Mrs. John Cotton, contralto, sang two numbers, "Reveries" and "To You" (Olney Speiks), with accompaniment played by Miss Gladys Sharpe. John W. Cotton spoke informally of the artists of Laguna, whose exhibits now are hung in the Van Grove studio. Karl Yens, who is a philosopher, as well as an artist, and whose pictures always bear peculiar titles; Julia Raymond, of the Water Color society; Leland Curtis, a lad of 29, who specializes in desert and mountain scenes in the High Sierras, and of whom great things are predicted by fellow artists; William

Coolidge Is Given Annual Pass to Game

WASHINGTON, April 6.—President Coolidge today received a solid gold annual baseball pass from John B. Heydler, president of the National league, in commemoration of the league's fiftieth anniversary. Heydler, who called at the White House and personally presented the pass, also invited the president to attend the Boston-Chicago golden jubilee game at Boston May 8.

Miss Marie Oliver Is Guest Of Honor

Miss Marie Oliver of 1314 North Central avenue whose engagement to Wells Lee Moran of New York was announced recently, was complimented at a linen shower given Saturday night by Miss Nyda Dana and Mrs. Lois Swindell at the E. E. Dana home 1318 North Louise street. The party was also the occasion of Miss Oliver's birthday. In the dining-room decorations were in pastel shades, sweetpeas being used to carry out the color scheme. Over the dining table was suspended a miniature pink parasol, from which hung the streamers leading to the gifts. The gifts were hidden in various parts of the Dana home and after much searching on the part of Miss Oliver they were found. Favors at the table were miniature bridesmaids in pastel shades.

Mrs. Mary J. Oliver, mother of Miss Oliver and Mrs. E. E. Dana, mother of the hostess, assisted in entertaining. The evening was spent in guessing games and a social time. Guests were: Misses Marie Oliver, Elsie Verity, Eleanor Perkins, Mable Gilbert, Helen Wood, Alice Rose, Gladys Flagg, Cynthia York, Alice Jernigan, Ruth Spaford and Mrs. Mary J. Oliver, Mrs. Frank Butterfield, Mrs. Harry Caddell and Mrs. Hall.

Local Woman To Complete Reign As President Of L. A. District

Anticipation of the annual convention of Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's clubs, April 14 to 16, at Santa Barbara, is keen among Glendale club women. Local interest, of course, radiates about the personality of Mrs. Charles H. Mrs. Toll will preside over all sessions of the convention, held in the Lobero theatre. The Santa Barbara Woman's club will be host organization. LIBRARY PATRONAGE URGED AT ATWATER

More Extensive Use of Present Branch Sought as Means of Assuring New Building for District Soon

Greater patronage of the present branch library at the Atwater grammar school will be urged by the Atwater Parent-Teacher association and other organizations in order to strengthen the chances of securing a new branch building through the library bond issue to be voted at the May election.

Mrs. E. V. Bacon, president of the Parent-Teacher association, today explained that further library development at Atwater Park will be governed by the amount of support given the present library branch located at the grammar school. The school library is open every Tuesday and Friday afternoons from 1 to 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Bacon urged that residents make use of the present facilities offered by the library board so that the board will be favorably impressed with the need and desire for better equipment. Through the Atwater Community Improvement association and Parent-Teachers' association a petition seeking a new branch library building has been presented to the Los Angeles City Council. According to present plans the structure will be built as a part of the $1,000,000 branch library program which will be voted on at the May primaries.

Seek Permanent Paving

A petition seeking permanent paving of Perilla avenue between Silver lake boulevard and Fletcher avenue, is now being circulated on that street and will be presented to the Los Angeles City Council. A former petition asking that Perilla avenue in this block be paved with sand and gravel is now pending before the council but has been held up for 30 days at the request of a number of the property owners. The new petition will be presented some time before the first document is reconsidered.

Judge Bledsoe To Speak

Official acceptance of an invitation to speak before residents of Atwater Park next Monday night has been received from Federal Judge Benjamin P. Bledsoe, now a candidate for mayor of Los Angeles. Judge Bledsoe will be the principal speaker at the meeting of the Atwater Improvement association. The meeting will be held either at the Neighborhood Christian church or at the Atwater grammar school. Definite announcement of the place will be made through the Atwater column of The Glendale Evening News later in the week.

The league room and tables were decorated with palm leaves and decorated with palm leaves and refreshments of sandwiches, cake and punch served.

Miss Margaret Robinson, captain of the Reds, Gertrude Barnard, Esther Flint, Jack Winger and Kenneth St. John were the committee on arrangements. Miss Maid Soper and Rev. J. C. Livingston were special guests. Twenty-five were present. Fred Walls captained the winners.

POLICE CHIEF URGES LIGHT ON SAFES

Suggests Methods to Assist In Keeping Number of Robberies Down

Asking the co-operation of Glendale merchants to aid the police department in preventing robberies during the crime wave that each spring comes to Southern California in the wake of an influx of itinerants, Chief of Police John D. Fraser today urged that all safes and valuables be placed within view of patrolmen and passers-by on the streets during the night.

The fact that Glendale has suffered but five robberies, in only three of which losses were sustained, during the past five years, has apparently left many of the business men in a state of apathy, Chief Fraser declared. Crime in Glendale has been reduced to an extremely low minimum, but greater co-operation on the part of merchants is necessary if there is to be assurance of continued safety, he said.

Prevention Best
"Crime prevention rather than crime detection is the duty of police officers of the present time," Fraser declared. "A decade ago a police department with a record for catching a large number of criminals was rated extremely efficient. Now the work of the police is to prevent crime, although they should also be able to capture criminals after crime has been committed."

"There are business men in Glendale who are actually inviting trouble," the chief asserted. "In many stores sums of money and valuables are kept in safes or strong boxes some places in the rear, or in the dark where burglars can work all night long practically undisturbed. In some cases the blinds to front show windows are even drawn. What chance has the patrolman on his beat to protect the valuables of merchants who follow this practice?"

Lights on Safe
"I recommend that every store in the city have its safe toward the front of the building with a light burning over it and the blinds raised so that it can be seen from the street. Keep all means of ingress closed and locked. Night after night our men have to lock doors and windows that are left open."

"Glendale's patrolmen are on the job all the time. They are as fine a group of men as one can find in any department. As a result, Glendale has a lower crime rate than most other California cities. Crooks as a rule give this city a wide berth. But the best police department in the country can't keep out crooks if the business men themselves insist in leaving large sums of

Canine Ghost Makes Merry In Glendale

Glendale has a phantom houn' dog. At dusk last evening an anonymous voice informed police that a ghostly canine had been seen on Sycamore road near Verdugo road. Sergeant Blake and Patrolman Rogers searched the road and a wide area in its vicinity, but the dog had disappeared. The hound, according to dwellers in Sycamore canyon, appears only in the evenings, after sundown. They complain that after its appearance a goat is found dead, badly mangled. In the past few weeks a number of goats have fallen victims to the fleeting canine.

'Hell's Fire' Discussed At Evangelistic Meet

Evangelist McConnell last night explained to a crowd in the tent at North Glendale avenue the meaning of the text in Deut. 32:22 "For a fire is kindled in mine anger and shall burn into the lowest hell, and shall consume the earth with her increase, and shall set on fire the foundations of the mountains." Hell throughout the Bible is always referred to as a literal fire, and always downwards. Scientists tell us the crust of the earth is only eighteen miles thick on an average, and the interior is a molten fire. This fire is eating into the crust of the earth, and causing earthquakes, and the foundations of the mountains being set on fire was the cause of volcanoes. The text calls this fire hell, and it was kindled by God in His anger."

Mr. McConnell will hold a special meeting tomorrow night when he will explain Divine healing from the Bible, to be followed with prayer to rid the sick.

Madame Ragna Linne To Sing On Program

Madame Ragna Linne, a personal friend of the composer Grieg, will be honored guest Friday afternoon at the meeting of the Music department of the Tuesday Afternoon club. Mrs. Edwin Cleophas is arranging the program, to begin at 2:30 o'clock. Madame Linne will sing compositions by Grieg, accompanied by Miss May Orcutt. Others taking part in the program of Grieg selections, will be Miss May Robinson of Los Angeles, pianist; and Miss Christine Edwards, violinist. Miss Erna Ankerholt, portrait painter, who has just completed a portrait of Madame Linne, will be a guest. The portrait will be on display.

money in safes in darkened parts of buildings. "The Glendale department has made an excellent record. But we have got to have the co-operation of merchants if that record is to be maintained."

W. B. KIRK IS VISITOR AT RESORT

Views Snow-Covered Hills Near Hot Springs; Tells Wonders Of Nature

Readers of The Glendale Evening News, who enjoyed the W. B. Kirk travel letters published a year ago will be interested in the following letter written by Mr. Kirk at Warner Hot Springs, near San Diego. Mr. Kirk writes:

"The reason for the premature vacation of your erstwhile foreign correspondent lies in the fact that my vision is becoming seriously impaired and I reason that the cause is physical, so I am using this splendid water and the outing in an effort to overcome my impairments. "Readers of The News will remember that I sent you a letter from here last July telling of the fine water and its benefit to me, but I didn't stay here long enough to reap the full benefit of it, so I am here now for nearly a month, using it internally and externally to the fullest extent possible."

Many Visitors
"At this season I expected to find very few visitors here but the fine weather and increasing popularity of Warner's brought quite a large number of guests for the first Saturday and Sunday, so that the hotel was filled to capacity. The rainy spell at the end of last week, however, kept down the number of motorists."

"Those were very fine rains in this section. The season has been so dry that vegetation was very slow in starting, but since these rains the trees have leafed and there is a wonderful difference in the appearance of nature. We were kept indoors all day Sunday but on Monday, with another guest, I motored up to the snow-line and we had the experience of walking through the snow and viewing its beauties on bushes, trees and mountain side, which carried one's mind back to the old days of winter with its pleasures and joys as well as its cold and deprivation."

Takes Long Hike
"Warner's is located close to the base of Hot Springs, or Lookout Mountain, as you know, and it is the highest peak in San Diego county, being 233 feet higher than Palomar, so the snow on its summit is deep. A friend and I climbed to the lookout last week, being just in time to reach it before the trail was closed by the snow. There were patches of snow from a previous fall, even then."

"That is an ideal hike for anyone who enjoys such exercise. It is six and a half miles each way, with a rise in altitude of 3400

FIRE HAZARDS SURVEY PUT UNDER WAY

Insurance Underwriters To Determine Fire Risks In Glendale

Engineers of the National Board of Fire Underwriters will begin this week on a survey of fire hazards and fire-prevention facilities in Glendale, according to an announcement today by V. B. Stone, city manager.

The survey will be under the direction of Charles H. Lumm, assistant general manager of the San Francisco office of the national organization. The corps of engineers to conduct the investigation, will have its own field chief here.

There is no cost to the city connected with the work, the fire underwriters bearing all the expense which is estimated to approximate $10,000. Upon the completion of the survey a report will be filed with the national organization and with the City Council as to fire hazard conditions here and containing recommendations for improvements in fire fighting facilities and fire prevention.

As a result of the investigation local officials believe there may be a substantial reduction in fire insurance rates in Glendale. If conditions warrant it such a recommendation will be made to the national organization by the field engineers. If not, the city will be informed of improvements necessary to obtain a reduction in rates.

The invitation to the National Board of Fire Underwriters to conduct the survey here was made by the City Council several weeks ago at the behest of the Chamber of Commerce and the Glendale Lion's club. Fire Chief A. H. Lankford will co-operate with the members of the engineering corps and Stone has announced that the investigators will have the co-operation of all city officials.

George Kaeding, member of the Glendale Lion's club, was the first to bring the matter to the attention of the Chamber of Commerce and city officials and it was through his efforts that the city was put in a position to get the survey.

The survey will extend over a period of several weeks, it is understood.

'GREAT QUESTION' LUTHERAN TALK

Dr. Funk Discusses Great Questions In History Of Religion

"A Great Question" was the sermon delivered yesterday morning by Dr. H. C. Funk, pastor of First Lutheran church. Dr. Funk took his text from Matthew 27:22 "What Shall I Do Then With Jesus?" He said:

"In discussing great questions it is well for us to inquire as to the positions held by the recognized scholars of our day. But for you and me the main question is not, 'What do these men think?' but 'what saith the scripture?'"

Thus you will observe that our confirmation class has been taught the direction of Charles H. Lumm, assistant general manager of the San Francisco office of the national organization. The corps of engineers to conduct the investigation, will have its own field chief here.

There is no cost to the city connected with the work, the fire underwriters bearing all the expense which is estimated to approximate $10,000. Upon the completion of the survey a report will be filed with the national organization and with the City Council as to fire hazard conditions here and containing recommendations for improvements in fire fighting facilities and fire prevention.

As a result of the investigation local officials believe there may be a substantial reduction in fire insurance rates in Glendale. If conditions warrant it such a recommendation will be made to the national organization by the field engineers. If not, the city will be informed of improvements necessary to obtain a reduction in rates.

The invitation to the National Board of Fire Underwriters to conduct the survey here was made by the City Council several weeks ago at the behest of the Chamber of Commerce and the Glendale Lion's club. Fire Chief A. H. Lankford will co-operate with the members of the engineering corps and Stone has announced that the investigators will have the co-operation of all city officials.

CONGREGATIONAL PLANS TWO MEETS

Church Dinner Wednesday With Program; Special Service Thursday

Members of First Congregational church will hold two meetings this week.

On Wednesday night at 6:30 o'clock there will be a "Church Night" dinner. Mrs. Myron Carman has arranged a program, which will include readings by Mrs. R. N. Stryker, and musical numbers. On Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock the church members will hold a special service commemorating the institution of the Lord's supper.

feet and a variety of trails and scenery sufficient to give enjoyment and exhilaration at all stages. There are some magnificent oaks in the canyons and valleys of this entire section. Tramps up toward Lost Valley, which is reached only by an indistinct trail and where very few visitors venture, and to Eagles' Nest, four miles distant, are always new and interesting to me. I have yet to make that trip to French Pete's Mine, some seven miles north by trail, where this unique character is digging gems of semi-precious stones out of the mountain side.

"Perhaps you know that San Diego county is the richest county in the United States in this respect. It's too bad that there is no means of transportation from Los Angeles to Warner's and the direct road from Temecula is not paved and almost impassable in bad weather. The direct road to San Diego is now closed because of paving the Mussey Grade, and motorists must reach here from there via Escondido.

"I notice in the News that among the names of candidates for council is that of my friend Frank L. Muhleman. I can hardly understand why a man who has given as much real service to his city as has Mr. Muhleman, is willing to do still more for so little credit or reward, but if he will the citizens should elect him by a large majority. I have known him ever since he became city attorney, and I know that he can, and will, be of great value to his constituents.

"The reputation of Glendale extends to all sections, but it is necessary to keep on keeping on."

REV. COLE SPEAKS OF GAMING CURSE

Central Christian Pastor In Sunday Sermon On Evils Of Taking Chance

Rev. C. A. Cole, pastor of Central Christian church, preached the ninth in a series of sermons on the subject "The Ten Plagues of Modern Egypt" last night. The subject for the sermon was: "Locusts—Gambling, High and Low." He said:

"Gambling comes from the word 'gaming' and has a wide application in its meaning. It ranges from matching pennies to placing stakes at the races; from buying chances on silverware, cigars, and turkeys to manipulation of margins on fictitious values of grain and stocks in the exchange markets.

"The game of economics requires that property shall go from one to another by the exchange of value for value. Gambling breaks down that law by taking something for nothing. It undermines the foundation of all substantial enterprises and industries upon which honest living and real prosperity must be built. It is an expression of greed, lust for gain, a desire to possess, without giving equivalent in effort, an attempt to live without labor.

"I have heard it argued that gambling is honorable because both parties have agreed to the wager, and to the means and methods employed to determine the issue. Both agree it's 'chance,' but both consent to take that chance, therefore it is not wrong. That chance is equal to both is an illusion. Only one of them has a chance, the other must lose. The consent to the issue is secured through a weakness for excitement or a passion for gain. It isn't a manly consent. The certainty of one's losing is as definitely fixed before the game as the amount of the wager. If there are ten or 1000 who enter the transaction where one or a few get the stake, the principle is exactly the same.

"There are stages of gambling through which men pass. All evil progresses toward open, bold, participation which ultimately brings ruin. Simple games with trifling prizes are signs of the first stages. Penalties in the slot machine, pool, lottery, stock and grain markets mark degrees of progress. Raffle for cigars, candy or turkeys or whatnot, and betting on horse races involve the same principle—no moral microscope can detect difference. All the elements of one enter into the others. The more attractive and charming the surroundings the more enhanced the danger of the temptation. The effect of gambling is a growing passion for excitement. It reacts upon the mental powers as alcohol or narcotics do upon the body.

Like a plague driven with the east wind as was the plague of locusts driven upon the Egyptians in the time of Moses so is this passion and mania for betting. Spain with its cock-pits, Monte Carlo with its roulette wheels, England with her races—the turf, regatta, and the yachting—have set a bad example for their younger brother across the western sea. Into every city and hamlet this gambling habit has gone and in some form is spreading with its blight. Ninety per cent of the defalcations in business are caused by gambling.

"The young have the temptations thrown around them and we have blunted our moral sensibilities till club and lodge and store and even the church in some places hold out games of chance, drawing and betting as inducements for support. It will require the west winds of Christian sentiment to drive these locusts that eat up our substance back toward the east and drop them into the sea. Let us not through the insatiable desire to get something for nothing compromise our moral stamina and breed in our children the appetite that may land them in the gamblers' hell. Let us provide things honorable in the sight of the Lord."

'JESUS' KINGSHIP' GRAND VIEW TEXT

Rev. Thomas, Pastor, Begins Observance of Holy Week at Church

Observance of Holy Week began yesterday at the Grand View Community church with special sermons both morning and night by Rev. George W. Thomas, pastor of the church. The "Palms" was sung by John P. Ogle at the morning service. Rev. Thomas preached the morning sermon on the subject "Kingship of Jesus" continuing the study of the text that will be used throughout the week, Phil 3:10 "That I May Know Him." He said:

"Most unusual number of people seem to be planning to visit the Holy Land this year," said the pastor. "Many of them are clergymen, and some of them are there now spending the Holy Season amid the hallowed scenes."

"What a wonderful thing it we might all be there! This morning we would come over the hill from Bethany by the way that thrilled with His presence so that the very stones did receive Him out. We would bid memory and imagination make to live again the wondrous scenes that heralded His coming amid the palms of beauty and the Psalms of praise. It would help us to know Him.

"It would help just now in the life of the church, and I hope that our privileged friends who are over there will see a new vision of Jesus and return to us with a new kingliness and Christlikeness to rearrange our troubled life and 'redeem our time.' And yet men do not always return from the Holy Land, even, with holy hearts; but holy hearts may be had in other places than Jerusalem. Jesus does not belong to Jerusalem nor the Jews alone.

"He belongs most to the time and place and people who know Him. He came to His own; but to as many as did receive Him, to them gave He power to become the sons of God. 'That word is for all times and all places and peoples.' The spot whereon thou standest is holy ground," said Jeremiah to Moses. Wherever the presence of Jesus is felt and worshipped, there is the Holy Land. You who receive Jesus as your King, who know, acknowledge, and serve Him in Grand View are building New Jerusalem here, and your homes are in the Holy Land. His Kingdom is the Kingdom of the spirit, the heart, the soul, the life. It recks not of time, place, nor outward circumstance. It is born of experience, lightened with vision of the glory of God like the city that has no need of the sun, and grows mighty through devoted service.

A barbarian husband discovered, ages ago, how to start a fire. And at once commanded his wife to keep this home fire burning. From that day to this, thru many centuries of barbarism and civilization, woman has always been the fire-watcher. Even today in kitchens the world over, except where there is a "Lorain," woman watches the fire—lest it burn the food she is cooking for her husband and family.

Knows Her Cooking will be a Success

But how different in every kitchen where there is a "Lorain!" There the housewife puts food into the oven and needs never look at it again until it is delightfully done and ready to serve. No fire-watching, no oven-slavery, no guessing, no worrying, no "unlucky days," no cooking failures. For "Lorain" controls all oven heats and controls them exactly; and whether the oven contains bread or cake—or even an entire meal of vegetables, meat and dessert, at one time—the housewife knows beforehand just when it will be done, and that it will be done perfectly. She never has to look.

Makes Good Cooks Better, All Cooks Happier

Some women like to cook, but to some cooking is drudgery. "Lorain" makes cooking delightful and sure, banishes all thought of drudgery, gives the family better food at less trouble to cook it, and makes good cooks better and all cooks happier. Wonderful, simple, accurate, reliable—that's "Lorain." We want you to know all about it, and shall be glad to have you read, "An Easier Day's Work," which is a most interesting book.

Dangler Gas Ranges

are famous for their baking. With one of these ranges in your kitchen, you may place your bread, cake or biscuit in any part of the oven that you wish and know that your baking will have clear even brownness that is the pride of every housewife.

The oven is especially designed for equal distribution of heat on all sides, top and bottom thus assuring you that your baking or whole meal will be done to a turn no matter where it is placed in the oven.

Dangler gas ranges equipped with the Lorain Oven Heat Regulator will give you service and comfort such as you have often hoped for.

You are urged to attend our free cooking school every Tuesday afternoon, 2 to 4. Miss Katherine Rathbone, Domestic Science Expert, in charge. You are assured a profitable afternoon.

Art Club Hears Talk On Artists By Cotton

Griffith, who possesses the finest art library in the west; F. W. Cuprien, painter of the sea, who never deviates from soft moonlight scenes, has been a singer in grand opera and composes music; R. Clarkson Colman, a poet as well as painter, and others of the Laguna colony. Mr. Cotton also read a poem, "California to the Artists" (George Strling).

L. T. Rowley spoke on planning commissions as a need in the city; an art commission, which should have a voice in city planning, directly bearing on the spirit of sacrificing beauty to financial interest, and problems that have confronted the zoning commission, of which he is a member.

Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh, president, conducted the meeting. The Art association went on record by a unanimous vote against making Glendale avenue an industrial street, the motion being made by Rudolph Streit.

Routine Business

Mrs. Ballagh appointed members of the board as committee on entertainment, with John W. Cotton, chairman, to formulate plans for the benefit to be given for the association Friday night, April 24, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude G. Putnam, 424 North Glendale avenue. For this affair, members are requested to bring articles of interest to be auctioned off.

L. T. Rowley and Rudolph Streit were appointed to act as a committee to bring the matter of a planning commission to the attention of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Ballagh announced that the Laguna traveling exhibit would be sent to Oxnard this week and requested members to bring their paintings to fill the walls of the studio as soon as these are removed. She called attention to the exhibits this month at Cam-nell & Chaffins, Los Angeles museum, Biltmore and Ambassador. It was moved and carried that the annual meeting, the first Sunday in May, should be called one hour earlier than is customary, in order to conclude the business of electing officers before the hour designated for the lecture.

TEARS FOR CONDEMNED

DURHAM, England, April 6.—Men and women gave way to tears and lamentations when sentence of death was passed on Laura Annie Lynn, charged with the murder of her husband.

Mrs. Lynn, who had wept throughout the trial, received the verdict quietly and folded her hands and prayed.

Keen sympathy was evoked for the woman by the tale of the defense that her husband had subjected her to cruelties because he was infatuated with a widow. The defense maintained that the husband might have been killed in a struggle for possession of a razor.

TRADING IN GLENDALE BECOMES POPULAR

When there is a Community need the people of Glendale rise to the occasion and these needs are coming up and being met in the right way every day. They are not always great needs, but none the less vital.

Any community, to grow and prosper, must be made up of people who realize the importance of Community cooperation. Any community situated like Glendale, is fortunate. Our location with reference to the mountains, the beaches and neighboring big sister city, our scenic situation, our healthful altitude, equable climate and pure water are natural advantages that make for civic greatness and for which, as a city, we should be grateful.

But no city grows and prospers by means of natural advantages alone. After all, it is the people who make a city, and it is the quality of the citizenship as well as the quantity that determines a city's strength and greatness.

Glendale has been fortunate in her citizenship as well as in her location and the combination of the two has resulted in the fastest growing city in the United States.

Glendale people know the importance of Community Loyalty in city building. They know that Community business would fail without patronage and they know that a city whose business life is stagnant cannot grow in population or importance. And so the people of Glendale are giving their support to Glendale business institutions.

In turn, Glendale business interests have developed in various quarters of the city districts devoted to business that are the pride of all Glendale people and the admiration of others. A far-sighted citizenry saw the possibilities in Glendale's natural advantages and, combining them with Community Loyalty and cooperation, built a city whose fame is nation-wide.

NOTED ENGINEER WILL TALK HERE

F. W. Lawton, Authority on Sleeve-Valve, to Give Free Lecture

Free rides, free entertainment, and full information on internal combustion engines will feature the Willys-Overland party to be given Tuesday night, April 7, at 8 o'clock, by the Murray Motors, Inc., Willys-Overland Dealers, at their display rooms at 905 South Brand boulevard.

F. W. Lawton, recognized national authority on the Knight sleeve-valve engine, who has been closely associated for a number of years with Charles Y. Knight, the inventor, will be the guest of honor, and principal speaker. Mr. Lawton brings with him a complete demonstration outfit of cut-away and sectional engines to show how sleeve-valves function.

"The Story of the Knight" will be told by Mr. Lawton. It deals with the history, construction, and advantages of the sleeve-valve type of automobile engine. Mr. Lawton is a representative of Willys-Overland. He has been associated with engineering departments of leading motor car manufacturers for years.

Free Rides Offered
After the entertainment and talk by Mr. Lawton, the general public will be invited to ride around town in the new six-cylinder Willys-Knight and Overland cars, seeing for themselves how these fine new cars perform.

In addition to discussing the sleeve-valve principle, Mr. Lawton will also go into the general discussion of the construction and improvements of all automobile engines. Not only owners of Knight engined cars will find his talk interesting, but all motorists will undoubtedly learn many interesting things about their own cars which will stand them in good stead in the daily operation and upkeep of their automobile.

H. H. Murray of Murray Motors, Inc., said he is preparing for a large crowd, as he realizes the extent of the interest that exists in motor cars in general, and the sleeve-valve type of automobile

Veteran In Tribute To John Brockman

Editor The Evening News—In the mad forward rush of the present we are apt to ignore the past, not only all its shortcomings but also its heroic deeds and actors such as the late Comrade John Brockman of Glendale, Cal. After reading in The Glendale Evening News his record and death all patriotic people should have resolved to do him honor and respect as an honored defender of our country and flag regardless of present conditions of any kind. Upon my inquiry as to how to be present in his home, a kind gentleman said, "You are an old soldier, I will take you there," which he did.

Reaching there twenty minutes early, it was my delightful privilege to wander alone in wonder and admiration among the environments of his palatial home. One must ponder in amazement at the exhibition of economic skill and magnificent expressions of art there in evidence of the superior faculties of this grand old patriot. After the short service, which was Catholic in form, I was taken, through the courtesy of the only other comrade there present with his good wife from Los Angeles, to the Glendale Catholic church, where to my regret, a previous arrangement prevented me from remaining. How many of the local Grand Army of the Republic and Women's Relief corps were in evidence at the church I am unable to state, but does it not border upon a crime that one so deserving of high honors for his life-sacrificing services rendered, our glorious country might be saved for the enjoyment of the happy people of today should not be accorded high honors? It is like the sensations of a nightmare to even contemplate conditions had it not been for the efforts of millions with him to correct a wrong that successfully saved not only the United States but, as succeeding events have proven, the whole world from ruin.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

In announcing Holy Week services at a downtown theatre in Sacramento, Bishop Moreland of the Episcopal diocese, made it plain the noon hour meetings would not interfere with the ball games!

A pastor in Palo Alto has been given publicity for bringing an athlete into the pulpit, while in San Francisco a Congregational church has won fame for its visitors, whose prominence in sports, drama, psychology, education, music and travel, compel the attendance of larger crowds than ever before.

Churches are finding that there is something more in spiritual life than simple preaching of religious doctrines. A well body, a happy soul, a studious mind, a singing soul—all are spiritual. Sunday schools that participate in athletics, glee club contests, among many events which might be listed would be popular with the youngsters of this generation.

Glendale might well have a Sunday school baseball league this spring as a part of its Community Service work. Perhaps it is going to have such. And much commendation should be given the organizers of the basketball league here which is closing its season.

Sport headlines like the following the writer noted in The Glendale Evening News popularize religious effort: "Churchmen Win from Milkmen."

Speaking of milkmen reminds the writer of the legislative program the dairy interests and farm-ers are carrying out at Sacramento. If there ever was a militant group gaining ground in this country it is the organized farm bloc.

"The poor farmer" is talked about on every occasion. Senator Louis Bennett, who tried to make a dairy farm pay, and gave it up, said:

"The farmer does more work in one month than the average union labor worker does in six."

Of course, that was gross exaggeration. What Bennett wanted to convey was the fact that the farmer is doing the work that the city worker used to do, such as milking cows, caring for pigs and

One course of lectures will be delivered by Dr. Mullenix will be on "Comparative Anatomy Vertebrates," and another course on "Evolution and Genetics."

DUG TREES; SOLD 'EM

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio, April 6.—Sounds like shady business! Accused by John Ott, tenant, of digging up trees on the Goldsberry farm, west of here, bringing them to Chillicothe and selling and transplanting them for shade trees, Perry Irvin and Nate Snell were arrested.

chickens; and the farmer is finding out why it doesn't pay. Foodstuffs are going to be increasingly higher as the years roll by. Manufacture of luxuries, or popular inventions such as the radio, automobile, airplane, motion picture, etc., pays much better than the production of necessary commodities.

A very passable lunch can be obtained for a half dollar. You can't get started any place in a car without spending two or three times that amount. And yet the meat you eat has traveled hundreds of miles through dozens of hands, the milk comes from farms many miles distant, the fruit is carefully handled and processed before being made into pies and the wheat from Kansas is in the bread on the table.

Freight rates alone represent about 40 per cent of your food costs. Preparation costs another 20 per cent, or more. The producer gets less than 40 per cent, or about 20 cents for what you ate at a 50 cent luncheon.

Little wonder the farmers are making themselves heard.

Fifty Boy Scouts To Take Three-Day Hike

The fifty Boy Scouts and leaders of Verdugo Hills Council who leave tomorrow for a three-day outing in the mountains, have an ideal outing in store, according to Harvey R. Cheesman, Scout executive who returned last night from a trip into the mountains and reports much snow.

The Boy Scout party in charge of Mr. Cheesman, William Hunter and Scoutmasters Wallace and McLean, will meet at Harvard High school at 8 o'clock in the morning. Transportation is to be provided by Frank C. Ayars and Francis J. W. Henry. There they will start their hike to Opid's camp, by way of a government trail.

At Opid's camp the boys will be accommodated in warm cabins, equipped with stoves and beds. A big campfire program will be enjoyed Tuesday night. On Wednesday there will be a hike to Barley Flats. Wednesday night will be spent at Opid's. On Thursday the hikers will hike by way of Bear Creek and Malard's canyon back to the head of Rose avenue, North Pasadena, where machines will meet them.

DEMOCRAT TAKES COOLIDGE OFFER

Professor Dennis Is Named New Member of Tariff Commission

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925
WASHINGTON, April 6.—An old Coolidge associate in the days of Northampton, a "Hoover man" of the first rank, but a Democrat withal, Professor Alfred P. Dennis, the new member of the U. S. Tariff commission, is making Washington rub its eyes and wonder.

The marvelous part of it all is the fact that despite nine years of that association at Northampton, it cannot be written of Professor Dennis that he succumbed to the Coolidge cult. He absolutely declined to sit at the feet of the master. As a matter of fact, he fought consistently the man of destiny who was to become the thirtieth president of the United States. When the story went forth that Calvin Coolidge never had been defeated for office it was Professor Dennis who mangled the myth by recalling that Mr. Coolidge once was defeated for school trustee or some local office.

Able Executive
Evidently the situation was very refreshing to President Coolidge for on the very first occasion when he could find an official suited to the talents of his friendly enemy of the Northampton days, and calling for a Democrat, he tendered it to Professor Dennis.

And that is why today a tariff commission has one of its ablest members—a man who believes that the tariff should be taken out of politics and put upon a scientific basis, tending to the economic well-being and prosperity of the country. Professor Dennis does not believe the tariff should continue the football of politics. The business of the country should be assured at all times of a definite tariff policy which would be continuous, with no upsetting influence at each election time.

DARKENED WINDOWS

By CORNELIA KANE RATHBONE

The servants, heads in air, demanded the investigation of their effects. Flint, summoned, conducted a fruitless search. With equal fruitlessness he again questioned Denis. The interview left both Flint and Graham uncertain whether the old man was transparently frank and as simple as a child, or whether he was an actor of the highest order. In any case, he maintained a realistic show of ignorance, and Graham, much chagrined, saw his clue lead nowhere. Flint, however, was ready with a dose of consolation.

"Wait a little," he counseled. "Nothing really happens in this good old world that isn't related to something else. Those clothes never walked away without legs; and Denis isn't smiling again for nothing."

The status of the two men had changed somewhat. Graham was no longer just a young man to whom Flint was in debt for his son's life, and who was desirous of observing detective methods from the inside. He now represented his uncle, named executor of his uncle's will, and was therefore, a principal in the investigation of his murder. Consequently, Flint reported to him any new light that might be thrown upon the case. One morning, therefore, while he was sitting in his office, going over the case in his mind, trying for the thousandth time to determine what his course of action should be in regard to the evidence he had deliberately suppressed, Flint's spectacles came peering round the edge of the door.

"Miss Morgan, the young woman we introduced into Hermann Tessler's house, thinks she got hold of something relating to those rings of Mr. Hurst's," Flint said, after he had settled himself in a comfortable chair by Graham's desk and accepted a cigar. "Tessler had a visitor last evening, a woman who requested a private interview, so Miss Morgan had to leave the room before she was shown up. She tried to get a glimpse of her as she left, but, unfortunately, Mr. Tessler accompanied her to the door, and his ample person acted as a shield, so she could see from behind the curtain where she was hiding was a piece of a black skirt and a pair of ridiculous congress gaiters, which must have come out of the ark."

"I thought things like that had died and been buried with Queen Victoria," exclaimed Graham. "Seems not, at least according to Miss Morgan. Well, she found Mr. Tessler all on tiptoe with excitement when she went back to his room. He couldn't hold his tongue, just had to let out mysterious hints about some great good luck he'd had. She is sure, from something he let slip, that he was talking about the rings. She is pretty sure, too, that he hasn't got them yet, for he told her that the lady of the gaiters would be back in a few days. She is to call me up the minute the woman appears so that I can get up to Mr. Tessler's house in time to see her when she leaves. Then I'll do a little shadowing."

"But why follow her? Why not arrest her at once?" "Because I would have no proof that she had sold the rings to Mr. Tessler. It's only conjecture as yet. As soon as we find out that he really has them, then we can act. That's the time when I shall want to know where to lay my hand on her. That's why I am going to follow her."

"Besides it isn't likely that the woman stole the rings herself—congress gaiters don't fit in with thieving on a big scale. My guess is that somebody is using her, and I want to find out who that somebody is. Follow a stream long enough and you'll come to the fountain head sometime."

"Have you any suspicion as to who the head can be?" Flint rose and strolled to the window where he stood looking out and whistling softly. Graham recognized "Annie Laurie" which he had dubbed the doubt motif. He was debating whether to tell or not to tell, he thought.

Having made his decision, Flint's whistle turned into a smile.

"It doesn't do to give away our suspicions, Mr. Graham," he said. "If you do, and they are wrong, why, then, where are you? Face you see how that theory falls to the ground. He hasn't got the rings, and it looks as if he were negotiating for them with some unknown person who has."

This talk took place on Tuesday, and it was not till the following Friday that he heard again of Flint. He was sitting with Philipina when the call came. The girl had had a bad day and looked more effusive and immaterial than ever. It came to Graham suddenly that the years of pain were running swiftly out like the grains of sand in an hourglass, and when the telephone call came, he was reluctant to leave her. But Flint's message drove all else quickly from his mind.

"If you want to see those congress gaiters, hurry down to Hermann Tessler's house. I'll be there. Don't lose a minute," called Flint. Before Graham could answer, he had shut off.

Without a thought of Philipina, Graham seized his hat. He found Flint waiting in the shadow of a projecting doorway. A little further away an automobile also waited. Beckoning him into the shadow, Flint hurriedly explained the situation. Word had just come from Miss Morgan that the wearer of the gaiters was again on the scene, and was at that moment closeted with Mr. Tessler. Forewarned, Miss Morgan had managed to get a glimpse of her on her way in, and described her as a small, near gray-haired woman, dressed in the style of thirty years ago, with the manner of the maiden lady of that period—timid and shrinking. Not at all the sort of person likely to steal historic rings. Yet, before the library door had closed upon her, Miss Morgan had heard Mr. Tessler exclaim excitedly: "The rings! Have you got them?"

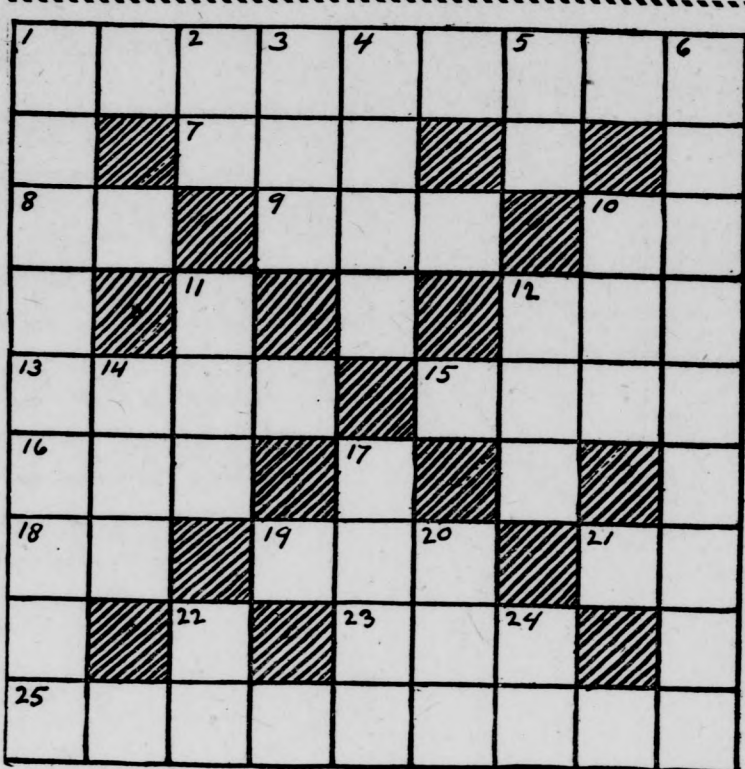

Flint had time for no more. The door of Hermann Tessler's house opened and shut, and a small, oddly-dressed woman appeared on the steps. She looked timidly round for a moment as if reluctant to venture forth into the night. Then, gathering her courage together, she went skurrying down the street like a frightened fowl.

CROSS WORD PUZZLE

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram. Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend to the right as far as the white squares continue uninterrupted. Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white space that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white squares remain uninterrupted.

mobile which Graham had noticed standing a few doors away, came quietly up to them. Flint entered and Graham followed. The car then moved slowly forward in the wake of the small, hurrying figure.

Two lines of swiftly moving motor cars were passing as the woman reached the avenue. The thought of crossing evidently dismayed her. She stood poised uncertainly on the curb for several moments; made a couple of ineffectual starts; then, throwing herself seemingly upon the protection of Providence, plunged blindly forth and scuttled across regardless of a dozen expostulating honks. Graham held his breath until he saw her emerge safely on the further side.

Whether Flint's chauffeur also plunged into the traffic with the same trust in a protecting Providence, or whether the responsibility for what happened lay with the chauffeur of the car which was speeding southward, Graham did not know. Indeed for a minute or two after the crash came he knew nothing at all. His last conscious impression was of a taxicab standing by the curb just beyond the corner, and of an arm which reached out and drew the small woman he was watching in.

When extricated from the wreck of the car, he found himself unhurt though a trifle shaken. The chauffeur was badly cut about the head by broken glass, but Flint's injuries were chiefly those of the spirit. Words may not adequately have expressed his feelings, but they did their best! His quarry had escaped; the taxicab into which she had been drawn had vanished; nobody in the crowd, which sprang up with mushroom-like magic, had noticed it; no body had noticed its number! For a moment Flint recaptured the picturesque invective of his boyhood. By the time, however, that the two men were free to pursue their way, he had recovered his habitual, philosophical calm.

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Copyright, 1925, By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

UNCLE WIGGILY'S ROLLER SKATE

When Uncle Wiggily limped down the stairs of his hollow stump bungalow one morning, he thought he would find the breakfast table set, and a pot of hot corn coffee steaming on the stove. And the rabbit gentleman very much wished some hot corn coffee, for he was lame from the rheumatism, and could hardly walk, to say nothing of jumping.

"But, dear me! Something must be wrong with Nurse Jane!" said Mr. Longears to himself, as he saw no table set, and heard no coffee bubbling in the pot. "What's the matter?" he called.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! I'm so sorry!" moaned the voice of the muskrat lady housekeeper from up in her bedroom. "I'm so sorry, but I have such a dreadful headache that I can not come down to get your breakfast. You'll have to wait on yourself."

"I shall not mind that," spoke the bunny gentleman cheerfully. "But what about you? Hadn't I better call Dr. Possum to cure your head?"

"I would like Dr. Possum to come and give me some medicine if it isn't too much trouble," spoke the muskrat lady.

"No trouble at all," said Uncle Wiggily, politely. "I'll call him for you."

But when he tried to do this, the bunny uncle found that the telephone was broken, and wouldn't work. "No matter, I'll just go to Dr. Possum's office myself," said Mr. Longears. "Perhaps it will do my rheumatism good."

Though he could hardly move, so stiff was he, Mr. Longears started from his hollow stump bungalow, calling to Nurse Jane that he would go after the doctor because the telephone was broken.

As he stepped outside his hollow stump bungalow Uncle Wiggily saw a roller skate on the step. One lonely roller skate.

"Some of the animal children must have left that there," said the bunny rabbit. "Now, if I had two roller skates I could glide on them down the hill from my bungalow to Dr. Possum's office and tell him to hurry and cure Nurse Jane. But what can I do with one roller skate? Wait a minute, though. Seems to me I have seen Susie Littlelitt slide along on one roller skate, I'll try."

Mr. Longears put the skate on his left hind paw and gave himself a push with his right paw. He slid along a little way, and he cried:

"Ah! This is great! I'll soon be at the doctor's office!"

But, all of a sudden, the skate slipped off his paw and down he fell, bumping his pink, twinkling nose.

"Something wrong!" sadly said the bunny, sitting up and rubbing several sore places. "I must have had the skate on the wrong paw. 'I'll try the other foot.'"

So he put the roller skate on his right-hand paw and gave himself a push on the sidewalk with his left paw. For a few feet he went along beautifully. But, all of a quickness, the roller skate slid off his foot and down he went, bent-bunko, bumping his pink, twinkling nose again.

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear!" sadly sighed the bunny uncle. "I'm so lame and sore and stiff! My rheumatism hurts so, and yet I must get the doctor for Nurse Jane. Oh, why didn't they leave two roller skates instead of one? That's the trouble!"

Just then Uncle Wiggily saw a piece of board lying beside the path. That gave him an idea.

"I know what I can do!" he bravely cried. "I'll put the board on the skate and then I'll sit on the board. It will turn the roller skate into a little wagon. I will coast down the hill on it to Dr. Possum's office."

No sooner said than done! Uncle Wiggily put the board on the skate and then he sat on the board. He balanced himself carefully, gave himself a push, and down the hill he rolled just like a hoop.

Safely he reached Dr. Possum's office, and the doctor got out his auto for the ride back to the hollow stump bungalow, taking Uncle Wiggily with him.

"For we can't ride uphill on one roller skate," said Dr. Possum laughing. He soon cured Nurse Jane's headache, and Uncle Wiggily's rheumatism was made better by his falling off the roller skate, which belonged to Johnnie Bushytail, the squirrel. So it all happened for the best, you see. And if the spoon doesn't jump out of the ice cream soda and try to dance with the lump of sugar, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Billie's snow.

OVERWEIGHT AND DIABETES

"Don't bring me the regular dinner, waiter. Bring the tray prepared for room seven. You understand? Don't make a mistake."

"No indeed, sir. I won't."

I glanced across to the table opposite mine, at which were seated a big, robust man who gave the order, and a beautiful woman. Could it be possible that that healthy-looking man was a patient at this famous diabetes institution I was visiting? He did not look ill at all, but apparently from this order, he was a patient, and dining in the main hall simply because he had a guest.

To the ordinary observer and even to a physician's practiced eye, there was apparently nothing wrong with the man, unless, of course, we can say (and we can!) that the 30 pounds or so excess weight which he was supporting, was wrong.

I observed his tray. It had a fair-sized portion of meat, large servings of spinach and asparagus, a tomato and lettuce salad, one anemic-looking muffin, a pot of tea and an orange, sliced. Yes, that was obviously a meal a diabetic might have, or a reducing patient.

When I made the rounds with the medical director of the institution, I met the gentleman. He was a diabetic. A mild case, the doctor told me, one which would undoubtedly improve when his weight was reduced.

"Is it your experience?" I asked the doctor, "that 75 per cent of your diabetics are overweight before manifesting diabetes?"

"I would say that my cases have a higher percentage than that. Perhaps 95 per cent of them are or have been, considerably overweight when they come here," he told me.

"And you agree that the prevention of overweight is the most important measure in the prevention of diabetes?"

"I certainly do."

"Then you approve of my campaign for normal weight, doctor?"

"I most emphatically do. You are not only going to help prevent diabetes, but certain forms of heart disease, hardening of the arteries and the kidney diseases and apoplexies resulting from that disease, and many other ailments."

"Will you tell me what you consider the explanation of the relationship between overweight and diabetes?" I asked. "Do you consider overweight a direct cause of diabetes?"

"No. Overweight is not a direct

PACIFIC LEAGUE TO OPEN TUESDAY

Portland Plays Los Angeles; Oaks At Sacramento; Seattle At S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—(P.A.A.) B-A-L-L.—Four thorny throated umpires in as many ball parks along the Pacific coast will heave up the above euphonious gargle to the crisp April atmosphere tomorrow afternoon as a signal for the 1925 Pacific Coast league baseball season to start and get going.

After a hectic spring training season in which about 350 aspirants and aspiring candidates were given the once over by the eight Coast league clubs, the baseball year was good and ready to be under way.

Bill of Fare
The day's bill of fare calls for the Oakland bunch to mix it with the Sacramento Senators in the city built around Fort Sutter, while elsewhere Vernon measures up with the Mormons at Salt Lake; Seattle tangles with the native sons in San Francisco, and the Portland swimmers battle the Los Angeles Angels in the southern city.

Apparently the Seals open the season as favorites. Los Angeles is getting off to a bad start with a crippled infield, but one never can tell about the Seraphs. The rest of the Coast league teams all look promising and the outlook is for an exciting season.

BASEBALL

Hal Chase, banished ball player, will be back in uniform this year. He will play with the Douglas, Ariz., team of the Frontier league, composed of Douglas, El Paso, Tex.; Fort Bayard, N. M., and Juarez, Mexico. The schedule opens April 18.

It took seventeen innings to decide the Los Angeles Angels-Shell Oil game yesterday at Signal Hill park. Harry Sanders, former Chicago hurler, on the mound for the Angels, hit "Stubby" Mack, pitcher for the Oilers, in the seventeenth inning with the bases loaded and forced in the winning run, 7 to 6.

The Oakland team shut out the Chicago Cubs, 3 to 0, at Oakland yesterday in an exhibition game. The three runs came in the eighth inning.

Forced to retire in the seventh when a finger on his pitching hand was broken by a batted ball, Keough, mound artist for the Pasadena Merchants, saw the Midway Oilers gather four runs and the game off Trautwein in two innings. Keough had allowed only two hits in six innings. The final score was 4 to 1.

The Pasadena Painters dropped a slugfest to the Crow City team, 8 to 6, yesterday at Brookside park. Heatt, pitcher for the winners, also led his team in hitting.

Cornhuskers To Meet Colorado Tracksters

LINCOLN, Neb., April 6.—Permission was granted today to the University of Nebraska track team, now in California, to meet the University of Colorado in a dual meet at Boulder next Saturday. The Cornhuskers, who lost a dual meet last Saturday to Stanford, will meet the University of New Mexico Thursday in another contest on the return trip.

TEAM IN ENGLAND

TILBURY, Eng., April 6.—The United States army polo team, headed by Major Beard, landed today from the steamer Metekona and entrained immediately for Aldershot, where the American mounts will be whipped into shape and the players trained for their matches with the British army teams.

Expects to Beat Own Record

BABE RUTH, the batting bambino, is out this season to knock the horsehide over the fence no less than sixty times, thus surpassing the mark he hung up in 1921, when he traveled around the circuit fifty-nine times.

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News
Babe Ruth has been training religiously for weeks intent upon breaking his own world's record of fifty-nine home runs for a season. Can he do it? Has he the same keen vision? Has he the perfect co-ordination of muscles and nerves?

Has he the same tremendous driving power in his mighty shoulders? Has he the flexibility in his wrists that gives the "snap" to his swat as bat meets ball? Has he the stamina and endurance his youthful frame carried four years ago when he made that record?

These things—and all of these, if not more, he must have to achieve his ambition. Does he still have them? Ruth is serious in his stated intentions. He not only hopes to turn the trick to get a new thrill for himself and another portion of baseball fame but he realizes that such a feat on his part would just about spell another pennant for the Yankees.

But what are his chances? These conditions are against him. He is four years older than he was in the halcyon days of 1921. And he had been in the big league six years then. This is his tenth campaign.

The American league pitchers have studied his batting methods, his weaknesses—if he has any—and his peculiarities in general for three full campaigns since 1921.

Managers have become more cautious. In his big year the intrepid souls among the pitchers and managers were inclined to tempt fate and "take a chance" on the Bambino when he came up. Discretion has become known as the better part of valor through the rude manner in which Mr. Ruth has treated these courageous jinks.

Ruth himself is fighting the bane of heavy athletes—ever increasing tendency to take on weight. Constant diligence to guard against taking on poundage is a strain on the nerves—as well as the appetite.

On the other hand—Ruth approaches the coming season with a proper mental attitude and probably in better physical condition than he has enjoyed since making the record.

When Ruth took the world by storm four years ago his ability as a home-run hitter was unknown. He was seeking fame in a new role. He knuckled down to his task earnestly and with the cagerness and enthusiasm of any man who sees greatness and the fame and fortune it should bring, within his grasp. He took the whole game seriously. Then came the adulation, the tribute, the fawning and the unscrupulous friendships that came. Ruth's head was turned. He wasted two good years of his baseball life basking in the limelight. He gave small attention to training regulations. He drew fines and suspensions, imposed an effort to bring him to his senses.

Last year he woke up. He saw his fame and popularity slipping away. He knuckled down to the task of "getting back." He trained diligently a year ago. He made the campaign to hold the Yankees in the lead a personal one. When the smoke cleared away he had slammed out forty-six home runs and won the batting championship of his league with an average of .376.

The close of the season found him in perfect trim.

He had lived simply all winter on his farm in Sudbury, Mass.

True, he took on weight. Home-raised pork and bacon, home-cooked flap-jacks and beans will put it on. But it was good flesh.

He feels a personal responsibility greater than ever now that the Yankees have their lost laurels to regain.

Perhaps these things will overcome the handicap of advancing years. If they do and he finds his massive frame working like the perfect baseball mechanism it was in 1921, he may run that total of home runs up to sixty—a notch higher than the world's record he now holds.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925
NEW YORK, April 6.—Football is like some curious plant which begins to bloom in the spring, disappears as summer dawns and then suddenly in late September rises into the air like a green bay tree.

Just now with spring practice on throughout the land the gridiron game is to be seen as a sturdy shoot. And the air is filled with gossip of the barred turf.

For one thing opponents of Washington and Lee are herewith warned to keep their eyes upon the Generals next fall. The outfit was strong last year but will be stronger next season. The outfit was strong last year but will be stronger next season. The outfit was strong last year but will be stronger next season.

Marquette, too, unless injuries take away some of the veterans, promises to be the greatest in the history of the Milwaukee institution. Only two men of the 1924 outfit were in graduation and the vacant places will be filled by unusually promising freshmen material.

Oxley Lane, the 210 pound tackle, is going to make a great leader and thus quality will have full opportunity for expression against the Navy, Mercer, Kansas Aggies, Creighton and North and South Dakota.

From Michigan comes word which makes it look as though Harry Kipke, one of the most famous athletes ever developed at Ann Arbor, is being groomed for the position of field coach of the eleven. Anyway, Kipke has been added to the coaching staff to fill George Little's place.

Little was not an alumnus of the Ann Arbor institution and in the fact that Kipke, and not some instructor from another institution, was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by Little's departure for Michigan is read a definite step toward a system of graduate coaching. Michigan's staff this spring consists of Jack Blott, who has the appointment to the football coaching staff, is lost to the ranks of big league baseball; Harry Kipke, Weiman and Cappen, with Yost, of course, supervising. Of this squad, Blott, Kipke and Cappen are all younger alumni.

As a matter of justice to one sportsman and a man of the highest athletic ideals, the writer wishes to correct a recent statement in this column that Knute Rockne of Notre Dame has been instrumental in bringing to this university a number of secondary school stars who will be available to replace the famous Four Horsemen next fall and in 1926.

Rockne is too busy a man to canvass for football material even were he inclined to do so, which he is not. He relies for replacements upon material such as would naturally be attracted to an institution of Notre Dame's facilities for higher education as well as her gridiron prestige.

The actual facts seem to be that the Notre Dame outlook for this fall is pretty blue and that all of the genius of Knute and his assistants will be required to make of the eleven a worthy opponent for the number of strong teams that will be met. The following statement from the great coach should establish his position definitely. He writes:

"I have never talked to a high school athlete in my life and to anyone who can prove that I suggested even to a high school athlete that he come to Notre Dame I am willing to give a check for $5,000."

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.
WASHINGTON, April 6.—(Returning from tour of training camps)—The fans of the capital city naturally are depressed with the poor showing the world's champions have been making in their spring series against the Giants, but they will be making a mistake if they assume that the team has gone back.

The Senators as a team have as much the championship aspect as they had in 1924. The work of the infield will be one of the sterling sights of the baseball season; the combination of Judge Harris, Peckinpaugh and Bluege is a team in four stanzas at $5,000 a line. The outfield is as good as it was with no signs of frittering away. The catchers are as good. The pitchers may all show as well or better.

To win the championship again Washington faces a harder task than it had last year. It will have to battle with three teams which will give it better than they gave last season and that, of itself, is enough harder fight without taking up the battle with the others. Chicago, Cleveland and Philadelphia will play the Senators harder this year. The Yanks will never knuckle to them until they are compelled to do so, and Detroit can out-hit them.

If the Detroit team plays ball in all ways as it can with its bats, the series between the Tigers and the Senators this season will be one of the best. These two teams are as surely contenders in the coming race as the passing of the planets unless one or the other suffers injuries to players of the kind that will upset all predictions.

The Senators more than any right hand hitter more than anything else at this moment. It is a left hand team—too much so. McNeely, Bluege and Harris are right hand hitters but not one of them is a swatter. Suppose Washington had such a right hand hitter as Bob Meusel or Harry Heilmann or Earl Sheely, who could be slipped into the batting order in third or fourth position. What a difference it would make! It would make the attack of the Washingtons the devil's own to beat because of alternating batters who could raise Cain with any pitcher from St. Louis to Boston.

In the box, Washington has nothing to worry about with five good left handers and four first class right handers, not to mention a kid or two. There are so many teams which do not like left hand pitching that the combination of Reuther, Gregg, Brillheart, Mogridge and Zachary may stand them on their heads if the quintet gets to going right.

The Giants, having disposed of the Senators rather easily in five of the six games they have played with the Senators this spring, do not think Washington will repeat. But that is the natural criticism of a team which is still smarting under its world series defeat and especially of a team like the Giants which never is beaten as long as it can talk and kick.

No one is competent to say at this early date that Washington will repeat or that it will not repeat. But don't put it down that the Senators will repeat simply because they are a championship team. They will have to dig deeper into their jeans for runs than they did last year and they will have to keep digging all the time.

George Ward May Get Battle With Walker

NEW YORK, April 6.—"Dave" Culnan, Newark promoter, today entered the field with California bidders for the services of George Ward, welterweight contender from Elizabeth, N. J. Culnan announced that he has offered Ward a "shot" at Mickey Walker's title as Bob Meusel or Harry Heilmann or Earl Sheely, who could be slipped into the batting order in third or fourth position. What a difference it would make! It would make the attack of the Washingtons the devil's own to beat because of alternating batters who could raise Cain with any pitcher from St. Louis to Boston.

'GREAT DIVIDE' IS GATEWAY FILM

Painted Desert Of Arizona Pictured In Current Film Attraction

The Painted Desert of Arizona, one of the wonder spots of the world, and particularly of the southwest, which is barely known despite its beauty and fascination, forms the setting for some of the most important action of "The Great Divide," the Metro-Goldwyn picture showing today and Tuesday at The Gateway theatre.

"The Painted Desert with all its wonder and mystery and lure of color and light and remoteness, with the tang of high, cool, lavender blooming mesas set like islands of rock in shifting seas of gaudy colored sand, with the romance and the adventure and the movement of the most picturesque horsemen in America." So this unique land is described by Agnes C. Laut.

Land of the Navajos
"Go up to the top of one of the red sand knobs—you see these Navajo riders everywhere, coming out of their houses among the juniper groves, crossing the yellow plain, scouring down the dry arroyo beds, infinitesimal specks of color moving at swift pace across these seas of sand. Or else you see where at night and morning the water comes through the arroyo bed in pools of silver, receding only during the heat of the day; out from the ochre rocks that screen the desert like the wings of a theatre."

Conway Tearle, Alice Terry, Wallace Berry, George Cooper, Zasu Pitts, Huntly Gordon, Allan Forrest and Ford Sterling are in the cast. "The Great Divide" was adapted to the screen by Valdemar Young from William Vaughn Moody's famous play. Reginald Barker directed.

MANNA HELD OVER FOR SECOND WEEK

Production Is Causing Great Comment Among People Of Glendale

"Manna," which opens its second week at the Glendale Playhouse, Central avenue at Lexington drive tonight, is being talked about. That most valuable sort of publicity, word of mouth advertising, is sweeping over the city. Neighbor is saying to neighbor: "This play 'Manna' is a mighty good one. You must see it. By all means go and see it." And then follows a little description of the play.

The Dobinson Players know this because of a curious fact. "Peter Lindbergh," played by Joseph McManus, after he has seen a vision of "The Man from the Book," (Christ) gets up and walks, though he has been assured by doctors at the hospital that he is a cripple for life.

Hearty Applause
Shortly after the beginning of the next episode, Peter appears, walking onto the stage. Now, the audience is intensely interested in his appearance as in all other incidents of the play as significant. But it is so unexpected, and big things have happened with such rapidity that the audience does not grasp the significance of the cripple's cure really being permanent. His entrance, insofar as outward sign is concerned, is almost unnoticed.

That is, it was on Monday and Tuesday and Wednesday night. But on Thursday and Friday and Saturday nights, when he appeared, the people burst into hearty applause. This showed that in the talk concerning the play, those who have seen it have prepared their friends for the incident by describing it. And the applause follows irresistibly.

No Show Tuesday
Because of a previous engagement of the Playhouse for tomorrow night—Tuesday, April 7—there will be no performance of "Manna" on Tuesday night. But there will be the usual performance of the other nights of the week, up to and including Saturday, April 11. There will also be a matinee Saturday.

The only day in which there is no performance is Tuesday April 7, tomorrow night. The play starts its second week with bright prospects, as there was a good business Saturday, and there is a big advance sale for tonight.

The reason for the good attendance forecast for this week is the fact that the play, while notable entertainment, is of the type and with a theme which is peculiarly appropriate to Holy Week, because it teaches the lesson of faith and of spiritual rebirth—which is the message of Easter.

FORECASTS OWN DEATH
QUINCY, Cal., April 6.—When Frank Young, as he was returning from work with his associates, exclaimed "I am dying; in a few hours I will be dead. Ship my body to Stockton," the statement was received with laughter as a clumsy attempt at humor.

Today the body was shipped to Stockton for interment, as requested. Young died within three hours after making the prediction. He was 65 years of age and unmarried. Heart trouble is declared to have been the cause of death. Decedent was a carpenter.

'MAD WHIRL' FILM GLENDAL MOVIE

May McAvoy, Jack Mulhall Featured In Current Screen Feature

Whether the somewhat exotic conditions of family life depicted by "The Mad Whirl," which opened Sunday at the Glendale Theatre and will continue today and tomorrow, exist to any great extent in this land may be a moot question; that they exist to some extent is without doubt, and the picture gives a graphic portrayal of the reason why they do exist and also of why they should not exist.

"The Mad Whirl" is a Universal-Jewel production with an all-star cast which is notable because of the prominence of the members and because of the excellence of the work of the individual members in the film. May McAvoy has the feature role, that of the daughter of a former saloon keeper, who believes in obeying the law. Jack Mulhall plays the son of a wealthy man who maintains a luxurious estate near the village where the ex-saloon keeper and his daughter make their home. Other members of the cast include George Fawcett, Myrtle Stedman, Alec H. Francis, Barbara Bedford and Ward Crane.

From Czar's Household
One of the most unique and entertaining acts ever booked at the Glendale theatre also opened yesterday to continue until Thursday night. Dobrohoff's imperial balalaika orchestra under the direction of Alexander Dobrohoff, former leader of the Russian imperial orchestra and musical instructor in the household of the late czar in old St. Petersburg.

The offering is one of exceptional talent and is different from the conventional turn. Each member of the orchestra had a difficult time to escape from Russia, when the Red Army swept over that land, but now they are here, America finds them wonderful entertainers.

There are fourteen Russian artists in the orchestra, and the soul of the organization is Dobrohoff himself. Most of the members were his pupils in Russia before the revolution ten years ago.

TUJUNGA NOTES
TUJUNGA, April 6.—The opera, "The Stolen Flower Queen," given by the pupils of the Tujunga school, under the direction of Miss Leone Schindler, art director, and Miss Maleta Osborn, music director, was greeted by the largest audience the school auditorium has ever contained. The school orchestra opened the entertainment with two selections. Ninety-four pupils took part on the stage, and over 150 people assisted in the preparation and presentation of the play.

Miss Evelyn Alston represented the flower queen who had been stolen by the king of weeds and his retinue. Donald Spurr made a successful king of weeds. Emma Marion Messick took the part of the fairy queen. Each royal person had a full attendance of appropriate characters. There were fairies, butterflies, snowflakes, autumn leaves, Indian fays, chrysanthemums, train bearers, and boy scouts. The costumes were designed by the pupils in the art classes and showed much taste and appropriateness. This opera was the most ambitious undertaking ever presented by the school and was evidence of the ability of the teachers staging the play, as well as of the pupils who took part.

The sanitarium, El Mira Sol, erected by Mrs. Colburn at the base of the mountains between Tujunga and Sunland, has been leased to Miss D. L. Barbezat. The sanitarium has been remodeled, and is now operated as a sanitarium for the care and treatment of children suffering from spinal and kindred diseases.

ANNUAL OUTPUT LARGE
SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—Raw materials produced in California during 1924 were valued at $1,224,885,537, according to advance figures compiled by L. G. Williams, director of the information bureau of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

To this enormous sum must be added $800,000,000, the estimated value added to raw products by manufacturing in the state, which brings California's 1924 record of production to the grand total of $2,024,885,537.

DRESS MODE HIT
BRADFORD, England, April 6.—Short skirts are causing unemployment. England's textile industry has been hit by the short skirt, which means less fabric for a dress than under the old style.

"Looking at the short, tight and almost sleeveless garments one sees worn by women now, one sees another grievance for the weaver," said John Easterly, president of the Textile Institute.

DEATH BEATS ACTION
HORNBELL, N. Y., April 6.—Fifteen minutes after John Hunt, veteran mail carrier, died at St. James Mercy hospital, orders directing his reinstatement in the postal service were received from the White House.

Forced to retire, after thirty years of service, because of ill health, Hunt had been trying since 1920, two years after his forced retirement, to obtain reinstatement. President Coolidge finally signed the order too late.

CIRCULAR FAILS TO GIVE NAMES

W. F. Tower Calls Attention To Fact Some Candidates Are Not Mentioned

Editor The Evening News—My attention has been called to a campaign circular purporting to contain the municipal ticket to be voted on Tuesday, April 14.

It is misleading, however, in that it is incomplete, as it omits some six names of properly qualified candidates.

I object to having my name used on this circular, for this is a case where a "truth half told is a lie well told."

The voting public has a right to know who all the candidates are that are in the race and I am confident that they have sufficient intelligence to make their own selection without a guardian.

Let us have fair play and may the best man or woman win.

WILBUR F. TOWER,
328 North Maryland.

The circular referred to by Mr. Tower is unsigned; there is nothing on it to indicate who put it out or who is responsible. The names of candidates left off are those of present city officials who are running for office.

At the Bowl, Templars from all commanderies will join in the observance with Eminent Sir Charles Malcolm, grand commander of the state of California, and his suite as honor guests.

Following a short parade, the knights, marching to the music of the massed bands playing "Onward, Christian Soldier," will enter the natural amphitheatre that forms the bowl. The bowl will be specially decorated for the occasion with thousands of Easter lilies. The knights will form in the shape of a cross. Rev. George E. Taubman of Long Beach will deliver the sermon. An elaborate musical program has been arranged.

LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, April 6.—A heavy rain prevented a number of persons from attending the Girl Scout benefit program the other night. The Verdugo Hills orchestra donated its services and opened the program with a lively march, after which the curtain rose on the first act of "The Colonel's Maid." The performers were well into the first act when one of the actors, Stuart Carroll, who had the part of Colonel Richard Byrd, was taken seriously ill, necessitating ringing down the curtain. Mrs. Jessie Hansen, Girl Scout captain, explained the situation, announcing "Overtones," a one-act comedy in which Mrs. Virna Walker as Hetty, Mrs. Fred Pinkus as Hattie, Mrs. Mary B. Darrow as Margaret and Mrs. Blanche Hopkins as Maggie, carried the house with the clever handling of their lines.

"A Day in Girl Scouts Camp," first portrayed the bugler, Gladys Knox, playing the rising call, a hurried scrambling by the sleepy Scouts who gave the salute to the flag followed by the singing of "America the Beautiful." Girls in bathing suits gave a clever demonstration of resuscitating a drowning person and mistletoeing to sprained ankles. Night time around the camp fire with the girls singing "Tenting Tonight" and "Old Kentucky Home," then stunts, clowns tumbling around. Gladys Knox, Doris Rose, Eileen Kar, Elizabeth Talbot Martin and Katherine Goff were the Scouts. Mildred Maranville danced.

A Petrot dance by Elizabeth Talbot Martin was done en masque and Katherine Goff gave an excellent exhibition of jiggling. A colorful Spanish dance by Elizabeth Talbot Martin was heartily applauded, driving home the true lesson of Scout work. The candle ceremony, each scout lighting her candle from the taper held by Scout Leader Margaret Brown, the hardest working scout of the troop, was given. Miss Brown has to her credit sixteen merit badges and is listed for many more to be awarded at the next court of honor. Candle bearers were Scouts Dorothy Potter, Helen Haskins, Mildred Maranville, Muffy Goldenberg, Doris Rose, Eileen Kar, Laura Kennedy, Kathleen Goff and Leoma Crowell.

Taps led by Captain Hansen completed a full day in camp. After the program dancing was enjoyed. The scouts extend their appreciation to the Verdugo Hills orchestra and all others who generously helped them in their entertainment. "The Colonel's Maid" will be given later when the cast is together.

A remarkable program has been prepared for the members of the La Crescenta Woman's club, through the courtesy of Mrs. N. B. George, chairman of the department, when she will present Robert Woods Van Kirk in a dramatic character impersonation of Robert Browning's "Caponsacchi" from "The Ring and the Book." The La Crescenta Woman's club has the honor of being the first club to receive this program gratis, the members being indebted to Mrs. George. This will be the monthly open meeting and an invitation is extended to all friends of members. A short business session will occupy the attention of members until 3 o'clock p. m., when the program will commence. Mrs. Blanche Hopkins will act as hostess at the tea served after the program. The club will meet Wednesday at the La Crescenta school house at 2:30 o'clock.

The Reading Circle of the P. T. A. met at the home of Mrs. Eloise Farmer with the largest attendance to date. Added to the regular reading was a short selection from Jarvin's "Child Raising," given by Mrs. Virna Karman Walker. Members listened in to the garden talk over KJL. Mrs. Eloise Farmer, at whose home the affair was given, was assisted in serving by Mrs. G. Mitchmore. On Wednesday of this week members will again meet at the Farmer home, adjourning at 2 o'clock to attend the club meeting at the school house.

Mrs. Ward Van Deusen is spending the spring vacation at her Laguna Beach home. Little Miss Violet Findlay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Findlay, is the house guest of Mrs. Van Deusen. La Crescenta branch of the Los Angeles county free library has been re-furnished with new tables, chairs and desks. A new map of Los Angeles county will be on the east wall and facing it on the west wall will be a bulletin board from Exposition park, announcing exhibitions of interesting features, nature talks, etc. The following number of books were loaned during March: Adult, 259; juvenile, 139; magazines, 11, and non-fiction, 78, making a total of 578 books. Books for Book week are still being requested. These will be shipped to headquarters after April 25 to be used for the Merchant Marine free libraries. Highway Highlands residents enjoyed a most unique party Saturday night when April Fool was appropriately celebrated. Everyone was in costume, some attired backwards, others upside down and others still in startlingly original costumes of various sorts. Dancing was enjoyed, the musical talent of the tract taking turns in playing. Refreshments were served.

URGES BUSINESS MAN FOR COUNCIL

Friends Of Frank Muhleman Name Qualifications As Office Holder

To the People of the City of Glendale—We are approaching the time when it becomes incumbent upon the people of Glendale to choose a new City Council. This is a matter in which every citizen is vitally interested, for as we choose so will we be served. If we select men unfitted to administer the affairs of our city by reason of lack of vision, or by reason of selfishness, or by lack of experience and business ability, just so our error will be reflected in high taxes, high rates of public utilities, etc., with attendant depression of property values and the reduction of rents and incomes.

We feel that in Frank L. Muhleman becoming a candidate for the council on April 14, the people have a chance to secure the services of a high-class man, such as we desire to see in control of our city. The brief sketch of Mr. Muhleman's life in Glendale, which is here submitted, explains the reasons for our desire to see him elected.

Pioneer Citizen

Mr. Muhleman came to Glendale in 1906, the year of the city's birth as a municipality. He has witnessed the phenomenal growth of the city and has been identified with the many movements which have brought about that growth and prosperity. He has served the city in many ways and in various capacities. He was city attorney in 1910-11. He was chairman of the Board of Freeholders that framed the proposed charter in 1912. He was elected a member of the Board of Trustees the then governing body of the city, similar to the present council, in 1916 serving four years, during the last named year being president of the board, equivalent to mayor.

During the war, he was appointed by the governor a member of the draft board. He was also a member of the Board of Freeholders that prepared the present city charter. He is a well-known member of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and is one of the few men in the city who are both a public servant and an ideal public servant, and as such we recommend him for the support of the voters on April 14.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, April 6.—After pleading not guilty to a charge of failure to support his family, H. T. Stewart was released on $1,000 bond by Justice Crawford.

An industrial survey, 1,000 copies of which have been printed, will be distributed by the Burbank Chamber of Commerce among manufacturers who are seeking the location for a manufacturing plant. The report is a summary of general conditions in Burbank and their relation to manufacturing industries.

A new 100-foot boulevard that will serve three purposes, connect Burbank with Roscoe and eventually San Fernando, relieve the traffic on this portion of San Fernando boulevard and open up a new territory for subdividing, is planned as the next important move in the major road program for Burbank. Sixth street is believed to be the most logical terminal for the new boulevard in Burbank.

A meeting of all candidates who have signed the charter of the new Moose lodge to be instituted in Burbank is scheduled for next Thursday night at 500 West San Fernando boulevard. The date of the institution ceremonies will be decided upon at that time. It is expected that several officers of the supreme lodge will attend.

Under license agreement with the Pioneer Paper Co., of Los Angeles the Service Pioneer Shingle Co. of Burbank and the County Roof Service Pioneer Shingle Co. of Santa Paula have been established, according to H. L. Wilbur, assistant sales director. The two concerns are independent firms which will handle distribution and application of asphalt shingles of the Pioneer companies. R. H. Soden and A. E. Gisel are owners of the local organization.

ADVENTISTS HEAR JERUSALEM'S CRY

Elder Chitwood Explains Entry of Jesus In Role of Peaceful Saviour

Elder E. E. Chitwood of Charlotte, N. C., was speaker last night at the Seventh-day Adventist church, preaching on "The Significance of the Triumphant Entry," saying:

"In thousands of Christian churches this day is being celebrated the anniversary of the triumphal entry of Jesus into Jerusalem. It is fitting that while popular attention is centered upon this event we join in studying its significance. Every event in the life of Jesus had a meaning and purpose and was a part of God's eternal plan. The importance of the occasion we are to consider is indicated by the fact that it is recorded in all four of the Gospels. The history of Christ would not be complete without the triumphal entry. It was an event rich in both symbolic and prophetic import and significantly expressive of the mission of the Messiah King, whose entrance was not in the proud triumph of war conquests, but in the meek rule of peace."

The text for the sermon was Zechariah 9:9: "Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion; shout, O daughter of Jerusalem: Behold, thy King cometh unto thee; he is just, and having salvation; lowly and riding upon an ass, and upon a colt, the foal of an ass." The speaker continued, "Our text pictures one-half a millennium before the event, the scene of the advance of the lowly king into Jerusalem amid shouting and rejoicing, riding upon an ass' colt. All the essential features of the occasion are covered in this advance notice published centuries before.

Long Cherished Hope

"It should be with the thrill born of the realization of a long cherished hope that we pass from the prophecy to its fulfillment. Jesus had spent the last Sabbath before his death with his friends in Bethany. It is now the first day of the Passover week, and we find him joining with the multitudes thronging to Jerusalem to celebrate the feast. Heretofore the Master had shunned publicity; but now his time had come and all eyes must be drawn to the closing events of his redeeming mission. Coming to the Mount of Olives, Jesus sends two of his disciples into the village near by for the animal on which he is to ride into the city.

"He foretells the finding, of the cost and the price and the circumstances of the find. The two found 'even as he had said unto them.' Luke 19:32. So it is with all inspired prophecies. Some today insist that the prophecies of the Bible are not to be taken literally, that they were products of a superstitious age that believed in the supernatural. An influential man recently expressed this 'modernist' view to me and advised that as Christians we look to Jesus alone for guidance rather than credulously take the whole Bible with all its strange prophecies and stranger tales as authoritatively inspired.

"Suppose tonight that we do look to Jesus, inquiring what his attitude was toward the scriptures and toward prophecy in particular. No other event in the life of Christ serves more admirably to illustrate his position in these matters. He himself makes predictions, some to be immediately fulfilled, some to wait years for fulfillment, and on the same occasion he places himself on record concerning the certainty that the voice of God through the ancient prophets must be true, even if a miracle had to be worked to bring to pass the things foretold.

Shouts of Rejoicing

"For, as the procession moved onward and the multitudes joined in the shouts of rejoicing the Pharisees and scribes who followed him rebuked his enthusiastic followers. His reply was significant, 'I tell you that if these should hold their peace the stones would immediately cry out.'

"What testimony to the certainty of inspired prophecy God through Zachariah had foretold, not only the entry of the Son of David into Jerusalem riding on an ass' colt, but that there would be shouting and rejoicing. Now that the time of the fulfillment had come, shouting and rejoicing there must be, even if God must give voice to inanimate stones.

"Such is Christ's attitude toward the infallibility of the scriptures. The meaning of this declaration to the Pharisees is made very clear when compared with other sayings of Jesus. For instance, 'All things must be fulfilled, which were written in the law of Moses, and in the prophets and in the Psalms concerning me.' Luke 24:44. 'I was daily with you in the temple teaching and ye took me not, but the scriptures must be fulfilled.' Mark 14:49. 'The scripture cannot be broken.' John 10:35."
